

Boilerplate: FoxEducation

FoxEducation was founded in Vienna in 2016, at that time still as SchoolFox, by industry experts David Schalkhammer, Julian Breitenecker and Stefan Siegl. FoxEducation provides schools, daycare centres and associations with an edu-messenger with many practical additional functions. A solid start-up phase at the beginning of the foundation was followed by a major growth spurt with the onset of the Corona pandemic in 2020. In the summer of 2021, the tutoring start-up GoStudent, which is also Austrian, acquired 100% of FoxEducation. Since then, numerous functions have been added and it has expanded internationally.
